

"Stern Self Denial" In National Expenditures

Urged by President Coolidge in Message to Congress—Moderate Program of Expansion for Country's Defenses and Natural Resources Recommended—Opposes Government Price Fixing and Subsidy for Farmers—Dry Laws to be Enforced.

Following are the high lights in the President's recommendations to Congress:

Farm Relief—Creation of a federal farm board to administer a revolving fund to help co-operatives.

Flood Control—Construction of levees, emergency spillways and aids to navigation on the lower Mississippi.

Taxation—Moderate reduction as recommended by the Treasury and abolition of certain excise taxes.

Army—Large enough for national defense with a generous supply of officers.

Navy—More cruisers, submarines and aircraft carriers but not participation in a naval building race.

Prohibition—Strict enforcement.

Coal—Legislation permitting the president to act during strikes.

Foreign Relations—Understanding with other nations toward outlawing war and negotiations of covenants out of harmony with the Constitution.

Philippines—Congressional supervision of revenue expenditures and of the islands every two years to a Congressional Committee.

Panama Canal—Construction of a $2,000,000 dam at Alhajuela for flood protection.

Inland Navigation—Protection of the Gulf to the Atlantic waterway through the St. Lawrence.

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP).—Calling on the people to continue a "stern self-denial" in national expenditures, President Coolidge laid out his program today for the coming year.

In a message which touched upon almost all of the legislative issues which have aroused interest and speculation, the President presented a differing only in minor details from those he has previously outlined on the major problems of farm relief, taxation, flood control, foreign relations and the state of the army and navy.

In a message which touched upon almost all of the legislative issues which have aroused interest and speculation, the President presented a differing only in minor details from those he has previously outlined on the major problems of farm relief, taxation, flood control, foreign relations and the state of the army and navy.

The Navy, he said, should be expanded by the addition of cruisers, submarines, aircraft carriers and as well as the development of the merchant marine as a second line of defense.

Flood Control. He recommended that flood control be confined this year to the lower Mississippi river, with provision for adequate dikes, emergency spillways and aids to navigation; cautioned that this problem should be met by viewing it as a separate, national question without attempts to link it with other proposals for river control and expansion; and suggested that the people enjoying the benefits of land reclaimed by government should share a partial, although perhaps lighter, burden of its expense.

Construction of a dam at Boulder Canyon in the Colorado river was stressed by the President, who cautioned, however, that every other possibility should be exhausted before the federal government becomes engaged in the power business. Muscle Shoals, he said, now was mostly concerned with power, but in its disposition he said preference should be given to proposals to use all or part of it for nitrate production and fertilizer manufacturing.

Must Practice Economy. Contending that the country had attained a prosperity never exceeded before and that there was in a position to enjoy some of the benefits which resulted from economy, Mr. Coolidge presented the spectre, nevertheless, of a large national debt and warned that until the revenues now directed toward its reduction could be directed to internal improvements and national development, the people must continue to sacrifice and the government must continue to economize.

"The Secretary of the Treasury," the President said, "has recommended a measure which would give us a much better balanced system of taxation and without oppression produce sufficient revenue. It has my complete support."

The President reiterated his belief in a high protective tariff, declaring that any reduction of duties would work a hardship on industry and agriculture alike.

Enforcing Eighteenth Amendment. Although but one paragraph of his message was devoted to prohibition, the President emphasized the need for both the people and public officials to "observe the sanctions of the constitutional provision and its enforcing laws." Recalling that "notable exceptions" have passed the Senate and the states "with one or two notable exceptions" have passed the Eighteenth Amendment, Mr. Coolidge declared that "The federal

Defense Rests in Lilliendahl Case

Harry Sanderson Creeps To Witness Stand And Admits He Lied When He Said He Could Not Identify Beach.

Mays Landing, N. J., Dec. 6 (AP).—The defense rested in the Lilliendahl murder trial today and the state immediately struck one of its most telling blows by putting on a witness who swore that he had testified falsely when he previously said that he could not identify a man he saw at the scene of the crime as Willis Beach.

Beach and Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl are jointly charged with the murder of the woman's husband, Beach having an alibi as his defense.

Harry Sanderson, a Sidney, Ohio, kitchenware salesman, had been the state's star witness in the attempt to break down the alibi. Sanderson was expected to identify Beach as a man he had seen running from the place where Dr. Lilliendahl was killed. But when he took the stand he said any such identification was impossible. After he left the stand he suffered a nervous breakdown.

Today Sanderson crept to the stand and admitted that he had lied when he said he could not identify Beach.

"When I took the stand," he said, "I fully intended to tell the truth, that Beach was the man I saw."

"And you can now so identify him?" the prosecutor asked.

"Absolutely," Sanderson replied, and left the stand without making any explanation why he had changed his testimony.

No reference was made to an affidavit Sanderson is known to have given the judge Saturday and which printed reports have said contained the reason for his actions.

After Sanderson left, the stand the prosecutor began calling a long list of rebuttal witnesses. Mrs. Lilliendahl finished her testimony in the first few minutes of today's session. Beach had previously testified.

Chandler Resigns As Commissioner

Dr. Chandler Files Resignation as Member of Public Works Board With Mayor Dempsey—Wants It To Take Effect Immediately.

Dr. George F. Chandler has filed his resignation as a member of the board of public works with Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey, asking that it take effect immediately or at least by the first of the year. Mayor Dempsey stated today that he had not selected a successor to Dr. Chandler as yet.

Dr. Chandler's letter of resignation reads as follows: "Having served through two appointments as commissioner of the board of public works, and knowing that my present appointment would carry me for two years more, I feel that it is impossible for me to spare any more time from my professional duties to give to this work. It is with regret that I tender my resignation to take effect immediately or at least before the first day of January next. I am with warm personal regards, very sincerely yours."

1 Known Dead in Alberta Blizzard

Calgary, Alberta, Dec. 6 (AP).—At least one victim was claimed by the blizzard which swept down out of the Canadian Rockies over western and southern Alberta leaving a zero weather in its path and was today moving eastward.

A section foreman on the Canadian Pacific Railway was killed when a snowstorm ran into the hand car which he was attempting to remove from the track.

Country schools were closed when the blizzard started yesterday and many children caught in the storm on their way home had to be rescued by searching parties.

Supreme Court Convenes Here

Grand and Trial Jury in Attendance—No Cases Ready for Judge Russell Monday Afternoon—Negligence Action on Trial.

Judge Pierre H. Russell convened the December term of the Supreme court at the court house Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and after calling the grand and trial jurors made up a calendar of cases for trial this morning. The day calendar which had been made up last Friday broke and nothing was ready to take up Monday afternoon. With one case ahead of it, the Elmendorf-Ross case will go to trial early this week and that will take several days to try.

All of the grand jurors were present and five were excused as follows: Timothy Donovan, George Lechner, Leonard Marl, George C. Roosa, Andrew M. Taylor, Charles M. Newkirk of Kingston was named foreman by Judge Russell and William B. Thompson of Rochester was named assistant foreman.

Two of the trial jurors drawn were not present. One was out of the state and one could not be located. Twelve additional jurors were excused when they presented legal excuses and Judge Russell directed that twenty-five additional jurors be drawn from the county box.

Negligence Action Taken Up. A negligence action brought by Dr. Frank W. Terwilliger of Highland against Rose E. Pugliese and Alfred E. Munch, was taken up for trial in the supreme court this morning. Dr. Terwilliger seeks to recover damages to his Ford sedan and also for personal injuries sustained when on July 24, 1925, when he alleges his car was struck by a motorcycle driven by Miss Pugliese who has since married Mr. Munch. He alleges that he was driving his Ford car out of his driveway at the time. As he approached the highway he noticed a truck coming from Highland toward Clintondale. He stopped his car to allow the car to pass and also noticed the cycle coming from the opposite direction. The truck was coming from the right and the cycle from the left. He waited for them to pass.

When the motorcycle driven by Mrs. Munch was some twenty feet away, he alleges it left the road and ran over on the lawn and collided with the Ford car. Dr. Terwilliger was rendered unconscious and dropped to the floor of his car. The car rolled back some distance and came to rest on the lawn.

He alleges that at the time the cycle was traveling at a fast speed and evidently became out of control of the driver. There was also a man and a child in the side car.

Mrs. Munch received injuries when the cycle struck the Ford. Her arm was broken and she received other injuries.

Dr. Terwilliger, who is manager of a fruit package business, was injured and claims damages. He was laid up for some time.

The defendant contends that it was not her fault. That Dr. Terwilliger, who was familiar with the surroundings, failed to sound a horn or warning as he was leaving the driveway and that she was unfamiliar with the location and was not responsible for the accident which she alleged was caused by Dr. Terwilliger's negligence in giving warning of his intention to enter the highway. A counterclaim is entered by defendants for damage to the motorcycle and also for the injuries which Miss Pugliese received.

Frank W. Brooks appears with Matt Cahill for the defendants and A. W. Lent and Mr. Rorty of Ireland, Caverly and Hannon, for the plaintiff.

New Paltz Faces Action to Compel New High School

Senator Wicks to Introduce Bill by Which State Will Return $72,000 to Village and Segregate Present High School from Normal School.

The crisis of what may develop into the bitterest taxpayers' factional fight in the history of New Paltz village approached last night, says the Poughkeepsie Eagle Press, when Senator Arthur Wicks, Kingston, informed The Eagle-News he intends to introduce a special bill in the legislature in January proposing the state return to the village $72,000 accepted 20 years ago and segregate the New Paltz High School from the New Paltz Normal School.

Four Results Seen. This would mean:

1—The village must erect a new high school to cost approximately $150,000.

2—The village will become subject to school taxes for the first time in its history.

3—Congestion will be partially relieved at the Normal School.

4—A taxpayers' election must be called at once to vote on the new school proposition. If the sentiment against a new school results in defeat of the proposition the town will be forced by the state to build an adequate high school.

Many unusual angles in the New Paltz school situation make it the most novel in the history of state education. It dates back to 20 years to the date when the old New Paltz Academy burned to the ground.

At that time town officials voted to turn over to the state $72,000 in insurance money with the understanding village pupils would be educated in the Normal School. This plan has worked well for many years, exceedingly so for local taxpayers, who have been free from school taxes while the state has also paid the salaries of all the teachers employed in the high school.

Normal School Crowded. In the last five years, however, a problem has been presented in congestion to which there is only one solution, educators say. This is segregation of high school and normal school pupils and the construction of an addition to the normal school. The town would pay for the new high school, minus the $72,000 insurance refunded by the state, while the state will bear the expense of the addition to the normal school.

During recent months, with congestion at the normal school becoming worse, Senator Arthur Wicks set about to secure an enlargement of the buildings for Ulster county. But he was confronted with a firm negative by both the state educational authorities and Governor Smith. The governor was quoted to have said he would not tolerate spending more money on the project as long as New Paltz pupils were being educated free of charge.

With the congestion becoming annually worse officials were faced with a double problem: they must first segregate the pupils, then attempt to obtain the legislation for enlarging the normal school. The first active signal for fireworks, therefore, is the exclusive statement of Senator Wicks to The Eagle-News yesterday that he will attempt to put through the bill for segregation and return of the insurance money when the solons gather at Albany after January 1.

Principal Van den Berg Talks. Interviewed yesterday relative to crowded conditions at the normal school, Dr. H. L. Van den Berg, principal, made public the following startling figures:

When he came to the school as principal in 1922 there were 280 normal school pupils in addition to the village grammar and high school students housed in the buildings constructed to accommodate 500.

Today there are 750 normal school students, 110 high school students and 350 grammar school pupils, all housed in these same buildings.

"I certainly am in favor of Senator Wicks' bill to segregate the high school students, and the erection of a new high school by the village. While it would relieve congestion to a certain extent it would not eliminate the necessity of an immediate addition to the normal school. The greatest benefit would be removal of the double system of education in the same buildings for you know the high school has its own corps of teachers which include C. H. Woolsey, principal of the high school. They are all paid by the state."

Form "Workshop." The Normal School executive pointed out the grammar school pupils will probably never be segregated from the Normal School as they form the "workshop" in the training of grammar school teachers who thereby have actual teaching experience while attending school. The student teachers are augmented by a regular staff of grammar school teachers paid by the state.

"I believe a new high school should be erected to accommodate at least 200 pupils," said Dr. Van den Berg. "This would cost between $100,000 and $150,000. This, however, would not be such a hardship upon the town as the state will return $72,000 or more than half of the prospective cost."

"While there are now 110 students in the high school, it is Both cars were crowded. The accident occurred during the morning rush hours. The injured were taken to hospitals in Hudson.

Early Morning Fire Damages Stock & Cordts

General Alarm Calls Out City's Entire Fire Fighting Equipment to Subdue Stubborn Fire in One of the Three Large Buildings Occupied by Big Furniture House—Steltz Family of Seven Rescued From Roof by Firemen.

Fire which was discovered shortly after 5 o'clock this morning swept through the lower building of the furniture house of Stock & Cordts on lower Broadway and brought out every piece of fire fighting apparatus in the city in response to the third alarm. The family of John W. Steltz, shipping clerk of the firm, who resided with his wife and five children in apartments on the third floor of the center building, were forced to retreat to the roof by the dense clouds of smoke that swept through fire rooms, and were taken from the roof by firemen using the seventy-five foot extension ladder on the new aerial truck. The amount of the damage to the store and contents is not known at this time and will not be known until the firm has had the opportunity to check up.

Chimney Fire Monday. Monday evening the fire department was called to the big store by a chimney fire in the center building, and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy stated this morning that all danger from that chimney was eliminated that evening by the work of the department in cutting away the woodwork surrounding the chimney.

The morning fire did not start in the central building but in the lower building.

Where Fire Started. It is thought that the fire this morning originated on the third floor of the lower building, and shortly after it was first discovered and an alarm of fire turned in, the fire was sweeping down through the building. The third floor, where the fire is thought to have started, is used exclusively for the storage of furniture.

The House Beautiful. On the second floor is the House Beautiful, which was one of the sights of the city. In this house, which was really a series of rooms fitted up and furnished to give those who visited it an idea of furnishing a home, were many fine pieces of furnishings and considerable money had been expended in fitting out this floor as a House Beautiful.

Draperies and Gift Shop. The ground floor was occupied by the drapery department and gift shop.

Formerly Old Huber Building. This lower building is remembered by older residents of the city as the old Huber building before it was acquired by Stock & Cordts and became a part of the big furniture house.

Fire Confined to Building. Through the efficient work of the fire department the fire itself was kept confined to the former Huber building. The adjoining building was also damaged by smoke and water but not by fire.

Rescue Family From Roof. Mr. Steltz, the shipping clerk, resided on the third floor of the center building in a six room apartment. He also serves as night watchman of the building, and after the chimney fire of Monday evening he continued to make his rounds of the entire building.

No Fire at 11 P. M. At 11 o'clock Monday evening Mr. Steltz made a tour of the furniture house but found no indications of fire in the entire building and retired for the night.

Awakened by Smoke. Shortly after 5 o'clock this morning he and his family, consisting of his wife and five children, were awakened from sleep by the odor of smoke sweeping through their apartments on the third floor. Leaping out of bed, Mr. Steltz opened the door leading into the hall to see if the way was clear to descend the stairs to the floors below.

Assailed by Smoke. As he did so clouds of smoke swept through the halls toward him and under the impression that the doors below were closed in fire, he and his family ascended to the roof of the building where they stood until the firemen arrived with the new aerial truck. The firemen quickly swung the huge extension ladder against the side of the building to reach the roof, then located the ladder to the roof and carried the members of the family to the ground.

Italian Cared For Them. M. Kallish, who operates the Kingston Laundry across the street from the furniture house, and who resides up over the laundry, took the Steltz family into his apartments and cared for them.

The members of the firm of Stock & Cordts also sent for a physician if any members of the family had been affected by smoke.

Prizes for Floats in Santa's Parade. When Santa Claus steps off the 11 o'clock West Shore train Saturday he will find a real welcoming committee, for the uptown merchants have planned to greet him in a novel way. There will be a big parade headed by a band and many handsomely decorated floats in addition to the thousands of children who may be expected to be on hand.

An invitation is extended to the public, especially the organizations and churches of the city, to participate, and prizes will be offered for the best decorated float. The parade will form at the station and give Santa Claus a welcome and then proceed uptown where Santa Claus will make his headquarters.

Charles A. Warren will act as grand marshal of the parade and from him any information in regard to decorations and floats may be had.

The prizes offered for the best decorated floats will be as follows: First prize, $15. Second prize, $10. Third prize, $5.

The parade, headed by Santa Claus, will pass in review at some place along the line of march where judges will be stationed to judge the floats and render their decision as to the prize winners.

The Uptown Community Tree has been erected on the lawn at the south of the court house and will be decorated with lights and other decorations. The tree is a handsomely shaped pine, thirty feet in height, and presents a very pretty picture on its spacious grounds where thousands of people may be readily accommodated.

Entrants in the float contest should get in communication with Charles A. Warren and secure the necessary information in regard to the rules of the contest.

Stock & Cordts Doing Business

Fire Finally Extinguished at 1 P. M. When Fire Department Left—Fire Confined to Lower Building—Firm Still Doing Business.

The fire which broke out in the furniture house of Stock & Cordts on lower Broadway was finally extinguished at noon and the fire department left the scene at 1 o'clock this afternoon. They expected to return later in the day and pull down the large cornice on the lower building where the fire started. This cornice hangs over the Broadway sidewalk and is deemed to be a menace.

The firm is still in business as the fire was confined to the lower building only. The large stock in the main building was not damaged by smoke or water, and it was due to the efficient work of the fire department that the fire was confined within the old Huber building.

Just what the damage will amount to is not known, but the Huber building and its contents are badly damaged by the fire. The roof is burned off and the floors burned through. The contents on the second and third floors are destroyed by fire while the furnishings on the ground floor are damaged by water and smoke.

BREAD AND MEAT WORLD PROBLEM

Wheat Keeps Pace With the Growing Population, Meat Lags Behind.

Washington.—What of the world's bread and meat supply since the World war?

The world's population has been growing. Have these two primary food items kept pace?

Since the problem is being approached from the Western world, let wheat stand, for the moment, for bread, and beef for meat.

A bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters summarizes the world wheat and beef production as follows:

"The average yearly world production of wheat during the five years immediately preceding the World war was roughly three and a half billion bushels. In late years the average has been closer to four billion bushels. The wheat supply, therefore, has advanced along with the number of mouths to eat it. So too with that part of the wheat crop that is transported from country to country. An increasingly small percentage of the world's wheat is now grown in the United States. In 1926, for example, only 12 per cent of the world's wheat was produced in the United States, and about eight hundred fifty million bushels (22.4 per cent) came from it.

"But although the World war had no lasting effect on wheat production and its steady growth, it played havoc with the world trade in wheat. The flow of wheat from the less developed countries to the countries with great urban centers has been an important factor in world economies since the rise of cities. Doubtless Babylon drew grain from its satellite countries. When Rome came to be a great power, a veritable river of grain flowed to it from northern Africa, Spain, and the Near East.

Medieval Flow of Grain.
"During the Middle ages commerce in food staples lagged, each country for the most part, producing its own food. But with the planting of colonies and the coming of the machine age, the tide of grain began to run again, setting toward England and western Europe from Russia, the Western hemisphere, and finally from the antipodes.

"Russia was the big factor in the wheat trade before the war. She produced more than one-sixth of the entire world crop, and exported a fifth of the total international shipments. After a big drop, Russia has almost reached her former position in the matter of production. But apparently the Russians of today are better fed: only 8 per cent of the world's wheat exports now come from that country. "Canada has become the chief factor in the international wheat trade. She produced less than two hundred million bushels before the war, and shipped only 11 per cent of world shipments. In 1926 she grew more than four hundred million bushels and her exports far surpassed the greatest shipments of Russia, reaching 37 per cent of total international exports.

"But although Russia and Canada have stood out as the greatest exporters of wheat, in the matter of production they have been surpassed since well before the World war by the United States. This country, in 1926, produced eight hundred thirty-two million bushels, more than a fifth of the world total. Only European Russia came anywhere near this mark, with five hundred ninety million bushels. Even when Asiatic Russia's two hundred million bushels are added, the United States is still in the lead by more than forty million bushels.

"But Uncle Sam's 120,000,000 mouths consume most of this vast volume of wheat. Some years the exports jump to a quarter of a billion bushels. Usually, however, they are little more than one hundred million bushels, making up the 12 per cent of world shipments that was the rule even in pre-war days.

Smaller Nations' Exports Drop.
"While Russia has dropped out of the world wheat trade since the war, at least temporarily, and Canada has moved to first place, there have been significant shifts in the positions of other wheat-producing countries. Rumania which contributed one-sixteenth of the world exports, dropped out entirely for some years, and now supplies only one-ninth-sixth. Bulgaria has cut her contribution to one-third the former figure; and Hungary's fifty-five million bushels have shrunk to twenty million. India, too, has been slowly losing ground as an exporter.

"Next to Canada, Australia has shown the greatest growth in wheat shipments, raising her pre-war figure of 6 per cent of the world shipments to 15 per cent. Argentina has shown a less spectacular growth from 10 1/2 per cent to 12 per cent.

"A surprising fact disclosed by a survey of the wheat situation is the magnitude of the crops produced by France, Italy and Germany, all of which are relatively densely populated, consuming countries. France's crop of three hundred thirty million bushels in 1925 was considerably larger than that of Argentina (two hundred twenty-three millions) and approximately twice that of Australia. Italy's two hundred forty million bushels was also greater than the Argentine crop; while Germany's one hundred eighteen million bushels was not far short of the Australian production. All three of these countries found it necessary to supplement their heavy home production by taking from 4 to 9 per cent of the world shipments. There has been little change in the volume of French wheat and flour imports since before the war, but that of Italy has increased, and that of Germany has decreased.

"The greatest importer of wheat continues to be Great Britain, which takes about one-quarter of all international wheat shipments. In 1926 she imported two hundred three million bushels of wheat and flour, an amount about equal to the total combined shipments of the United States and Argentina. In addition, Great Britain raised more than fifty million bushels of wheat at home.

U. S. Leads Also in Beef.
"In beef cattle, as in wheat production, the United States leads the world, with close to sixty million head. Russia probably ranks next with slightly under forty million, although both Argentina and Brazil have almost as many. Germany, France, and Australia follow with seventeen, fourteen and thirteen million. There are heavy holdings of cattle in India and other parts of the Orient, but the beef production from these countries is very light owing to religious scruples and vegetarian habits.

"The World war seems greatly to have affected the meat-eating habits of the West. Apparently France learned meat eating from her allies. Her pre-war imports of beef were only forty-one million pounds, while she exported sixty-two million pounds. Now the exports have been cut almost to one-half the former figure, while the imports have increased more than six fold. They are now 7 1/2 per cent of all international exports.

"Germany has doubled her imports, and now takes 13 per cent of world shipments; her exports both before and since the war are negligible. "As with bread, so with beef Great Britain is the greatest importer. She imports now more than one and three-quarters billion pounds per year, against one and a quarter billion in pre-war days.

"Changes in the sources of beef have not been great; rather, the pre-war tendencies have been followed out. Russia was never an important factor in Europe's beef supply, and her withdrawal from European affairs had little effect on the meat trade.

The World's Meat Counter.
"Argentina is the world's chief beef purveyor. Before the war her contribution was 46 per cent of the total international exports; now it has grown to 73 per cent. Uruguay is a poor second with 11 per cent; double her pre-war proportion. Australia, which furnished 14 per cent of beef shipments before 1914, sends out only 9 per cent now. The United States, too, has dropped from a 10 per cent contribution in the years prior to the war, to 5 per cent today.

"The only other country with exports which equal 5 per cent of world exports is, strangely the Netherlands, with more than 7 per cent. This country has only two million cattle. The explanation lies in the heavy imports of beef, most of which are re-exported. "Because the breeding population of the East lives largely on rice, it would be natural to assume that more rice is grown than wheat. But the fact that the people of the West are on the whole much better fed, apparently turns the scale in favor of wheat. The average estimated world rice crop for five years preceding the World war was two and a half million bushels, while the corresponding wheat crop was approximately one million bushels greater. The average annual crops for the year 1921 to 1925 were nearly three million bushels for rice, and nearly four million bushels for wheat.

Less Rice Exported Than Wheat.
"A much smaller percentage of the rice crop enters international trade than that of the wheat crop. In pre-war days 6 per cent of the world's rice production was exported, as against 25 per cent of the total wheat. The percentages now are practically the same.

"Pork plays a round fiddle to beef, as rice does to wheat among the meats and grains consumed by man. There are far fewer hogs in the world than cattle—about two hundred fifty million as against more than six hundred million. The United States leads all other countries in the number of its hogs—between fifty and sixty millions. The nearest competitors are Germany with sixteen million and Russia with fourteen million.

"The United States is also first in pork exports, sending out nearly one and a quarter billion pounds, more than half the total international shipments. The next more important exporters are Denmark with four hundred sixty-three million pounds, and the Netherlands with two hundred fifty-nine million.

"In pork England is again the world's best customer, taking more than one and one-third billion pounds of the world's exports, 51 per cent of the total."

(Above) "YOU LITTLE WILD CAT," he cried. A motherless girl's longing to escape the crude surroundings of her rough mountain home and the domination of a ruthless young scoundrel led her down to his own level, as vividly described in "Whispering Tongues," January True Story Magazine.

[I] In the main lounge of a college fraternity—a youth reading quietly. A friend enters. "What ho, big boy! Not stepping out tonight? Aw right—so long. Got a red-hot mamma that craves attention."

[II] Two co-eds on the campus. First girl: "I'm taking that good-looking fraternity boy to the dance." Second girl: "What! That poor sap! He'd no more think of kissing a girl than strangling his grandmother."

[III] The fraternity lounge few months later. The studious youth, his face now white and drawn gets up to leave. "Where to?"—a friend inquires. "Who knows—who cares?"—he replies coldly. He goes to his room and with the chilling laugh of a man whose soul is sick and screaming, he smashes the picture of a beautiful co-ed.

[IV] Just as a spark may start a terrible conflagration, so these cynical youths are soon to stand aghast at the violence, terror, shame and ruin that follows. The whole story is frankly, fearlessly told in "Hell's Highway," January True Story Magazine. No true chronicle ever published weaves such a spell of pity for thoughtless, reckless, pleasure-mad youth.

New Ford Model Teaches Kingston

The first model of the new Ford arrived here this morning and is on exhibition at James Millard & Co., 515 Broadway. It is a new and already has been thoroughly inspected by a large number of Kingstonians. The car will be at the exhibition at the Millard & Co. for several days in order that the public may look it over. The demand for the new Ford is great that the car will be taken to Millard's at the end of a few days' period to be exhibited in another community. It will be on time before orders for Ford will be filled although the latest addition to the motor vehicle world being turned out very rapidly at a factory.

The debut of the new Ford in Kingston has been looked forward to some time and no doubt Millard's show rooms will be visited by Kingstonians and residents of surrounding communities in large numbers. For the past several days people have been inquiring at the local agency as to the arrival of the new Ford which indicates the anxiety for view of the new product. Not only Kingston but in cities throughout the Hudson valley the coming of the Ford has been eagerly looked forward to. In Poughkeepsie a contest was held to see who could guess the date of arrival. Ward C. Moon, superintendent of schools in that city, won $25 for the correct guess. The first new Ford was on the floor of the H. T. Clinton Motor Sales Corporation on Friday, December 2.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to express our grateful thanks to all the kind friends who rendered us assistance during the early hours of this morning at the time of the fire which rendered us homeless, and especially feel grateful to Frederick Latour, who brought a little ones down the fire ladder safely, also to Mr. Kalish who immediately opened up his home to us. To the Fire Department, who worked so rapidly and efficiently to save our lives; to the Salvation Army who fitted us out with proper clothing, and to Stock & Cordts, who fitted us out with the proper furniture and rendered us their assistance; to Dr. Eastman and to all their many friends for their offers of assistance and kind words. Signed, R. AND MRS. JOHN W. STELTZ.

Fire Damages Stock & Cordts

The fire fighters then turned their attention to bringing the fire under control. As there is a large cornice on the Broadway side of the old Huber building, the firemen did not think it safe to erect ladders from the sidewalks, for if the cornice had fallen it would have swept ladders and firemen to the ground. Instead the firemen stretched lines of hose and entered the building from adjoining buildings and also went up on the roof of the Huber building, and soon tons of water were being hurled on the flames.

Looked Hopeless At First.

The fire had gained such headway when discovered that at first it looked as though the flames would sweep through the entire furniture house, but with every piece of fire fighting apparatus on the ground and every available fireman on the job, Fire Chief Murphy and Deputy Fire Chief Fred Leverich worked valiantly and through skillful work were able to keep the fire confined to the Huber building although in places it ate its way into the center building but was quickly extinguished there.

A Chain of Buildings.

In order to thoroughly understand the layout of the furniture house, it should be remembered that it in reality is a chain of three buildings connected one with the other by doors.

The main building is the one farthest uptown and was erected in 1892 after the big fire that swept the furniture house, then known as Stock & Rice, in 1891.

This main building, which is furthest up the hill and is four stories in height, houses most of the furnishings, and is not damaged by water, aside from the water scattered about as the fire hose was carried through it to get at the fire in the Huber building. Considerable smoke also swept through this main building, but by opening every window most of it was dispelled and the furnishings in the main building do not appear to be greatly damaged.

The Center Building.

Between the main building and the Huber building is the center building, three stories in height. On the top floor an apartment of six rooms had been fitted up and it was here that the Steltz family resided.

The second floor was used to display furnishings, as was the ground floor.

This building was filled with smoke, but by opening all of the windows much of the smoke escaped. There is also considerable water damage in this center building.

Quipped Huber Building.

The third building, known as the former Huber building, is where the fire started and before it was brought under control, gutted the building. The contents that were not destroyed by fire are damaged by the tons of water poured into the building.

Traffic and Trolleys Halted.

As soon as it was discovered that the fire was a serious one Broadway was shut off to all traffic from Spring street to Union street.

All of the electric wires were cut off so that no electricity passed through them.

The trolley road also shut off its power from the switch above St. Mary's Church to Kingston Point and the trolley cars only operated as far as the switch in front of the church.

Fighting Fire From All Sides.

When it was found that it was not safe to erect ladders on the Broadway side of the Huber building, the firemen carried lines of hose through the two other buildings and poured water into the burning building, and also from the roof of the Huber building.

Ladders were also stretched in the rear of the Huber building and windows were crashed in so that the hose could be put through to pour water into the building which was now a blazing mass of flames.

Heavy smoke clouds also swept above the building and shot out of the broken windows, making the fighting of the fire extremely difficult.

The dense smoke was caused by the burning contents of the building, consisting of house furnishings of all descriptions.

Several Hours of Fighting.

About 8 o'clock, after nearly three hours of fighting, the fire was gradually brought under control, and the work of clearing up Broadway so that traffic could proceed was started.

Police on Job.

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood, when he was informed of the seriousness of the fire, assigned every available patrolman to the scene and the patrolmen aided in keeping the street clear and assisted the fire department in every way. The men worked under the personal direction of Chief Wood and were kept on the job until their services were no longer needed.

Thousands of Dollars Damage.

The damage to the building where the fire originated will amount to thousands of dollars as considerable money had been used in fitting up the Huber building on the second floor and a large stock of valuable furniture was stored on the third floor, where it is believed the fire originated.

Firemen Deserve Credit.

The work of the fire department in confining the fire to the Huber building is to be commended, for at first it looked as though the fire would sweep the entire furniture house before it could be brought under control.

Still Doing Business.

While the furniture house was badly hit by the fire, it will not interfere with business as the furniture house carried the larger part of its stock in the main building and the center building, and members of the firm of Stock & Cordts stated that the firm would not close its doors but would continue to do business.

Finest House Along River.

The furniture house of Stock & Cordts is one of the largest in the Hudson river valley and the largest in Kingston. There is probably not another furniture house between Albany and New York city that carried a larger stock of furnishings.

Recalls Former Fire.

Old residents as they watched the fire recalled the fierce fire of 1891 when the furniture house was badly gutted. The firm in those days was known as Stock & Rice. Former Senator Jacob Rice later retired from the firm, when his interests were taken over by the late Senator John N. Cordts.

Delamater Feeds Firemen.

Adjoining the furniture house on the uptown side of Broadway is the Delamater Bakery, and the proprietors furnished the firemen with hot coffee and sandwiches which were greatly appreciated.

Salvation Army On The Job.

The Salvation Army workers as in the past appeared on the scene of the fire with their large coffee containers and served the fire fighters, chilled from the wet clothing that clung to their bodies, with the hot beverage. Doughnuts were also given out to the men. The firemen appreciate the cooperation of the Salvation Army which on previous occasions has received highest compliment from Chief Joseph L. Murphy.

Fireman LaTour Injured.

Fireman Fred LaTour, of the Central Fire Station sustained a bad cut on the hand from some fire while fighting the fire and was taken to the Kingston Hospital by Fire Chief Murphy to have the wound dressed.

Damage Not Estimated.

Fire Chief Murphy stated that the amount of damage caused by the fire had not been estimated as yet. He expected to take the matter up with the firm and ascertain if they could make an estimate during the day.

Millonig "Shot" Fire.

Henry Millonig, one of Kingston's cameramen, "shot" scenes of the Stock & Cordts fire here today. Mr. Millonig worked in the fire area and no doubt will have an interesting reel to exhibit to local theatregoers in the near future. He will probably have actual fire-fighting included in the film as the local companies and volunteers were at work when the scenes were taken. Mr. Millonig has had considerable experience taking movies in which he has been interested for several years and now makes a profession.

Woman's New Era League.

At the regular meeting of the Woman's New Era League of the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday at 2:30 p. m., a special Christmas service will be held, entitled "Peace on Earth". This will be an open meeting and a special invitation is extended to all the ladies of the community to come and see this beautiful service. There will be an executive board meeting at 2:15.

Resolutions of Respect.

It is with the deepest sorrow that the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Pine Hill Methodist Episcopal Church attempt to express in the following Resolutions their grief in the death of one of their most zealous members and former President of the Society, Mrs. Mary D. Cure, which occurred at her late residence in this village, November 12, 1927.

WHEREAS, It has pleased our Heavenly Father who doeth all things well, to remove by death, this beloved sister, member of our organization and church.

RESOLVED, That we ever hold in loving remembrance this esteemed friend; that we bear testimony to the noble example she has left us, to her faithfulness and zeal in all that was good; to her patience in the long period of falling health and suffering, and her never failing confidence in her Heavenly Father.

RESOLVED, That in our long association in Church and society we have cultivated the hope of immortality which leads us to dwell on the beautiful traits of human nature and it assures us that the golden bond that binds us in life cannot be severed in death.

RESOLVED, That our hearts go out in tender sympathy to the bereaved relatives and friends, and while we fondly cherish the memory of our departed sister we must assure them that their loss is also ours.

RESOLVED, That a copy of these Resolutions be sent to the bereaved friends and that they be placed upon the minutes of our Society and published in the county paper.

KINGSTON, N. Y., DEC. 6, 1927.

The report comes that King George has begun to wear trousers creased on the sides—and at a time when Mayor Thompson is out after his scalp, too! The sheer courage of the performance will have to be admitted even by "Big Bill".

Dr. Ellsworth Huntington of Yale University announces the discovery that students from large families are the most successful in college. That is to be expected as a rule, for the pampered "only child" is likely to exert himself less in college than the boy who has had to divide home privileges with brothers and sisters.

Buffalo has on its hands the problem of the disposal of 60,000 gallons of molasses seized in a raid on an illegal brewery. It would choke

the sewers and nobody wants it poured out on his land. To sell it would be the obvious and sane solution, but it seems the prohibition law forbids even the authorities to sell or give away any commodity

"tainted" by connection with illicit distilling.

DOUBLE WEEK ENDS.

Many people, even in this lax age,

use Sunday as a day of worship.

Many others, perhaps most, use it as a day of recreation. What's the matter? The trouble is, suggests the Emporia, Kan., Gazette, that the two things are both essential, and cannot be combined. It's like this:

People need a day of worship to keep their souls in good condition.

People need a day of rest to keep their minds and bodies in good condition. For rest, they must relax.

They can't relax in church, because they have their good clothes on and are on their good behavior and are kept up instead of let down. So more and more of them stay away from church, and read the papers or putter around the house and yard or go riding or golfing.

What we need, says the Gazette, is two days, one for worship and one for rest. Wherefore the startling question, "Why doesn't the church stand for a five-day week?

Five days of work, one of worship, one of rest?" If that were done, the Gazette thinks—if the church got behind the five-day week—"the seventh day might be a day of growth for the church, and a new spirit might come into the world."

Looked at thus, the idea doesn't seem so "radical" as usual. Will the church venture to take the five-day idea from organized labor and push it in the name of conservative religion?

SPENDING ABROAD.

Sir George Paish, noted British economist, in a magazine article, says:

The United States ought to spend

$1,000,000,000 or better, $2,000,-

000,000 out of its annual income of $30,000,000,000 in foreign countries, to permit these countries to purchase American produce in return, and to enable them to meet their obligations to this country for the capital supplied them since the war.

The situation, he says, is serious.

The United States has made vast loans abroad, and its own supply of credit will not last indefinitely. Europe should have money to repay its loans from America and buy American goods to keep our industries going. It cannot continue borrowing in order to pay. There should be business adjustments enabling it to pay naturally. Ample spending of American money abroad would serve the purpose.

This all sounds logical enough.

Americans have been slowly getting the fact into their heads that they cannot expect to sell abroad or collect their vast loans unless they also buy abroad. According to the World

Almanac, however, we imported $4,- 466,000,000 worth of foreign merchandise in the last fiscal year, of which $1,275,000,000 came from Europe. We also spent hundreds of millions in European travel.

Presumably Sir George means net spending. There was a balance against Europe last year of nearly a billion. Perhaps we really should spend there, for proper adjustment, at least a billion more than we are spending now. But American industry, especially for iron and steel buying, will object to this.

INDIFFERENT CREDITORS.

Again an old story is told of a class of creditors who are grasping and greedy and who hear about that they are to be different to their own interests.

The Federal Government is now advertising as ready to pay for to pay off the creditors of the Second Liberty Bonds to the amount of $122,000,000, but only a few over a half of the holders have their securities into their hands for collection on that date and a week later there were still more than 600 of the bonds to be presented.

If we are to judge by the number of them, and the number of advertisements, the Government is getting along very well.

Three millions of the Victory notes which matured last year and operation recently, is getting has not yet been presented.

attention to the matured Second Liberty bonds is to be expected.

fourteen millions of Federal obligations which remain uncollected, and among these there are not only a million of Civil War securities but

$2,000 of treasury stock issued back in 1790 during President

Washington's first term.

This is something more than enduring confidence in the Government's ability to pay, for bond issuance corporations tell a similar story about the failure to turn in bonds notwithstanding the loss of interest involved. Among the various explanations are loss or theft of securities, failure to see announcement of redemption or call, inatten-tion and neglect. But perhaps the chief explanation is to be found in the inexperience and consequent delay or forgetfulness where business matters are concerned on the part of many investors.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

HOW BLOOD PRESSURE VARIES.

You have had a complete physical examination for the first time in your life, and you are surprised to find that the blood pressure reading is higher than normal for your age.

Everything else is apparently normal, and you begin to wonder whether or not there is anything wrong with you.

Now as mentioned before, in cases of individuals who are tired all the time, tired mentally and physically, it has been shown that the blood pressure is very much below

the average.

In anxiety cases the blood pressure is often abnormally high.

The point is that although you may not belong to the anxiety group nevertheless the measuring of your blood pressure was a new sensation to you. As the physician adjusted the band about your arm, set up his little measuring instrument, and you felt the tightening of the band, you became just a little excited, a little anxious, as it were, and thus, for the time being, at least, you really belonged to the anxiety group.

In fact if you are in the least alarmed or excited because your blood pressure is above normal, your doctor will talk to you quietly for a few minutes about other things, and then to satisfy you and himself also, will make another reading.

With what result?

Your blood pressure, just these few minutes later, has become normal.

Because you have become accustomized to the process of taking the reading and you have no nervousness or anxiety about it. It is for this reason that where the matter of blood pressure is considered important the reading is taken early in the day. In fact a physician has been known to call on a patient every morning for a number of days in succession, and take the reading before the patient was out of bed. Thus after the quietness and restfulness of the night, and also after getting accustomed to the doctor coming every morning, the patient was in a "normal condition" and his true blood pressure could thus be learned.

So don't let a high reading, or a number of high readings disturb

you. Of course anxiety, exciting emotions, by increasing your blood pressure, can in time really damage

the lining of the vessels, and cause a real high pressure.

Delaware County Has Corn Borer

Pest Apparently Not Increasing Rapidly in New York—Need More Facts About Pest and Its Habits.

Although Delaware is now counted among the counties in New York state which are more or less seriously infested with the European corn borer, in most of the state the infestation is light and apparently is not increasing rapidly, according to L. H. Simons at the State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

No one knows what were the exact effects of last spring's clean-up campaign, because so many factors have a bearing on the development and spread of the borer. Federal authorities say that the campaign reduced the rate of increase of the borer in 1932 to one-sixth of what it was in 1926," he says.

"We are now faced with the need for more details of the life history of the borer, of the habits and relation of the borer to its environment, to discover varieties of corn which the borer will not attack, to discover natural parasites for the borer, and to learn more about the use of fertilizers for corn, and about the use of machinery for mechanical control of the pest. Until we know more about these things, we must stick to the control measures already advocated. Some of the points we should stress are: Use corn for ensilage, plow stalks and stubble under completely or burn stalks and refuse, cut corn low and early, and plant it late in spring.

Dogs Will Rush Aid to Sick Boy

Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 6 (AP).—A team of picked racing dogs today struggled through heavy snow from Payette Lake, Idaho, to carry medical aid to a sick boy marooned in an isolated cabin near Webster. One hundred and fifty miles of hard sledding was ahead of them.

A dispatch to the Tribune here says Dr. Don Numbers left McCall, Idaho, by automobile Sunday for the Payette Lake district where nine feet of snow compelled him to try the dog team. The boy, Emmett Houston, was stricken with influenza and hemorrhages and was not expected to survive unless medical aid arrived within three days.

Dogs were rounded up from among championship teams and taken to Payette Lake to await Dr. Numbers and Roy Storer, expert musher, who will drive the team in to the Thunder mountain region in the west central district of Idaho.

LOMONTVILLE HOME BUREAU TO SEW FOR FLOOD VICTIMS

Stockholm Rich Have More Babies Than Poor

Stockholm, Sweden.—Stockholm has a unique claim to glory. Dr. Karl Eden has just completed a statistical study here that shows that the birth rate of the laboring classes is about 25 per cent below that of the more affluent strata of society.

Stockholm laborers are apparently willing to let their earnings determine the number of their progeny, a state of affairs in marked contrast to that which obtains in almost every country in which statistical surveys have been made. The so-called upper classes are usually the ones that limit the size of their families.

Note for Golfers

White Plains, N. Y.—Medical experts of the Burke foundation are studying the effect of golf up to those suffering from nervous disorders. One subject's blood pressure rose 30 points when he was attempting to get the ball out of a sand trap.

DIAMETER OF COMET ONLY 2 OR 3 MILES

Pons Winnecke, Recent Visitor, Not Very Large.

Flagstaff, Ariz.—Despite the excitement it occasioned last summer when it came within 4,000,000 miles of the earth—closer than any previous comet—the Pons Winnecke comet had the distinction of possessing the smallest nucleus that has ever been observed in such a body. Probably it was not more than two or three miles in diameter, Dr. V. M. Slipher, director of the Lowell observatory here, has announced.

Doctor Slipher took advantage of the close visit of Pons Winnecke to watch it carefully with the observatory's big refracting telescope, with a lens two feet in diameter. He had, he says, the best opportunity in years to make a measurement of the size of a comet's nucleus, the center which is supposed to supply the rest of its material. On most occasions, he says, "the nucleus of the comet was found to be perfectly stellar, i. e., very small and sharp." At such times "it was possible to distinguish the nucleus from stars only by its motion."

Compared With Stars.

Even through the highest power telescope a star appears as a point of light. First Doctor Slipher compared the cometary nucleus with nearby stars. Then he took stars of similar brightness in another part of the heavens, in the region of the planet Jupiter and compared them with the large moons of that planet. As the size and distance of the Jovian moons are known, it was thus possible to estimate the size of the nucleus. Its distance from the earth was also known, and thus it was possible to get a rough approximation of its diameter. This, he found, was not more than two or three miles.

Other studies of the comet were made by Doctor Slipher with the aid of a spectroscopic apparatus attached to the big telescope. In this way, by analyzing its light, he found several very peculiar features. It has been supposed that comets are excited to great activity as they get near the sun, but the studies of Doctor Slipher of Pons Winnecke as well as other comets seem to contradict these views.

Spectrum Is Like Sun's.

The spectrum showed very strongly the same dark bands that are revealed in the spectrum of the sun. This shows that the comet's light consisted largely of reflected sunlight. Also, in the band of spectrum there appeared rather weakly the bands that are associated with cometary light. A spray of light which projected from the nucleus toward the sun gave off more light of its own than any other part of the comet.

Besides having its activity reduced by approach to the sun, Doctor Slipher believes that its close approach to the earth may have also reduced the comet's light. In 1910, he said, it was found that the light emissions from Halley's comet were reduced as it approached the earth, and then became more intense as it drew away. Previously it has been supposed that the earth has little influence on the activity of comets coming near it. If this is the case, it would account for the fact that Pons Winnecke, despite its close approach to the earth, was much fainter than some astronomers had anticipated.

Her Prince Charming

Back in our school days there was a girl in our crowd who said she would never marry until she located a rich man and a man with high position. We had forgotten all about this little girl until we met her last week on the reunion grounds. Her husband was running a hamburger stand and she was assisting with the cooking.—Eric Record.

2 Incorporations In Ulster County

Albany, Dec. 6.—In this day and age of the cafeteria and quick lunch, the boarding house has been forced to take a back seat, but one of these time-honored institutions was incorporated in New York state last month, and received a charter, the first of its kind this year. And as for dresses, the women of today will have no trouble in making their selections, for last month alone, in this state, no less than 114 garment-making concerns were incorporated. All in all, eleven months this year have brought about the incorporation of no less than 23,279 companies of all sorts and descriptions, a record breaker for the period, and one that will probably establish a new mark in this state by January first.

The report of Robert Moses, secretary of state, covering the activities of the corporation bureau, the largest in the world today, shows that out of 2,089 companies receiving charters last month, there were 287 companies scattered over the state, leaving 1,802 to New York city. Land development continues and resulted in 347 real estate companies incorporating last month in this state.

In Ulster county two companies with a combined capitalization of $45,000, incorporated last month.

Forbidden to Trim Beard

A history of the rise and fall of the beard would make interesting reading. Perhaps the first reference to such facial adornments is to be found in Leviticus, in which Moses gives the command, "Thou shalt not mar the corners of thy beard." In nearly all oriental lands in ancient times the beard was treasured and held in great respect.

Large Crowd at Armory Bouts

Fisher and Van Buren, Local Boxers, Gain Decisions—Kinchina Beats Darcy—Red Edgerton Wins His Flabby Bout.

Approximately 100 fans heard announcer Thomas F. Coughlin acclaim Charlie Fisher of this city victor over Ben Venuti of the Third Engineers of New York after the two battled for eight rounds at the armory premier boxing show of the season. Roy Van Buren, the only other Kingstonian on the card, received the decision over Ray Bonchue of New York. Frankie Kinchina, popular here, was awarded the decision over Tony Darcy at the end of their eight rounds of hard fighting. The best bout of the evening was the go between Tommy Aboba and "Red" Edgerton. Red got the decision after a hard struggle.

The Fisher-Venuti scrap was slow. Both fighters exhibited their lack of science, main strength featuring the encounter. Venuti worked hard in the opener but soon found he had a tough customer in Fisher, who outlasted his opponent as the battle aged. Although both were tired by the time eight rounds were announced Venuti appeared to feel the strain most and hung his 145 pounds upon Fisher in the clinches, throughout the battle, to a great extent.

Kinchina Wins.

The semi-final in which Frankie Kinchina and Tony Darcy featured gave the fans an illustration of stamina. The battlers clinched continually and few blows were landed from long range. Darcy tried hard for Kinchina's face while the latter made a strong bid for Darcy's body and had his chest and ribs showing scarlet in the final rounds. Kinchina tried to rock his opponent in the opener by walking from his corner at the opening bell and landing one to Darcy's jaw. It had little effect on the rugged Italian. Both scrappers entered the ring at 157 pounds and in good condition.

Anderson Kayos Bantista.

The only knockout of the card was registered in the third last group of rounds. The eight-round set-to scheduled to be fought by Bobby Anderson, National Guard flyweight champion, and Frisco Bantista went but five stanzas when the latter dropped to the canvas for the count. After showing up about evenly for four rounds Anderson landed two terrific blows to his opponent's face, the damaging one traveled about six inches, that clinched the champion's good record.

"Red" Makes Things Hot.

Tommy Aboba and "Red" Edgerton furnished the fastest scrap of the evening. Edgerton, who battled at the armory on previous occasions, subdued for Ivan Hawes who was present but could not enter the ring after being examined by two physicians. Edgerton was awarded the fight after eight rounds of fast battling. Aboba used the "flabby" puncher type of attack and left his foot on many occasions when he endeavored to score a heavy wallop. Edgerton assumed the calm and collected attitude and rolled up many points. Aboba did his best fighting in the early rounds but tired himself. In the fourth round the boys went at it so strenuously that the referee failed to hear the timer's bell until it had been sounded several times.

Van Buren Wins.

Roy Van Buren and Ray Donohue milled about six rounds which proved slightly too long for both. Van Buren got the decision. The fighters were completely tired out at the end of the session with Van Buren standing up slightly better than his opponent. Both put into practice all they knew of the game but were arm weary in the final sessions, when their blows had little effect.

The opening bout lasted but two rounds and was won on a foul by Jim Higgins. Frank Ponzio, colored, his opponent seemed to have the better of the scrap but landed a low blow which ended the set-to. The officials were Frank Healey of New York, referee; Thomas Linden of this city and Joe Duley of Rosendale, judges; Jake Malone of Kingston, timer and Thomas Coughlin, announcer.

JUDEANS WILL PLAY HAKOAR FIVE TONIGHT

Tonight the Young Judeans will play their last game before meeting the fast Gaynor Masked Five of Albany. They meet the Hakoar quintet tonight. Much interest has been aroused concerning the inter-club game and a large group of rooters from both clubs will be present at the game.

The Young Judeans are drilling hard for the much heralded game. The visitors boast one of the strongest teams in the Capital district. The Albanians have a large following and will be accompanied by a bus load of admirers of the Capital City. It is believed that this is the only team ever to appear in Kingston, wearing masks on the court. The Kingston boys will appear in their new outfits for the first time. There will be a fast preliminary and also dancing after the big game for which tickets may be obtained from all members of the team.

Eastern Champs Still Unsettled

Pittsburgh and Yale are Contested at The Top of The Heap—Pittsburgh Will Play In Tournament of Roses January 2.

New York, Dec. 6 (AP)—The question of football supremacy in the east remained as unsettled today as in the closing weeks of a campaign marked by upsets at practically every turn.

Veteran observers concede doubt in expressing selections for an eastern championship with the levy of Pittsburgh and Yale clasped at the top of the heap.

Followers of Pittsburgh saw the eleven of Tad Jones lose its prestige when the Georgia colors were brought to earth by Georgia Tech. Georgia had triumphed over Yale early in the season by 14-0 with Bruce Caldwell in the New Haven lineup.

Heretofore, Georgia was given consideration for national distinction but last Saturday's defeat by a traditional rival marred the string of nine consecutive victories.

Pittsburgh's claims for title recognition are backed by a decisive 39-0 victory over Penn State which in turn had defeated Pennsylvania in a previous game. New York University, another outstanding machine, was held to a 13-13 tie by Penn State.

Pittsburgh won eight of nine contests. The other being a scoreless draw with Washington and Jefferson which also was undefeated. However, Washington and Jefferson was held to a tie by West Virginia later. In the first four games, Pittsburgh did not allow opponents a single point defeating Thiel by 48-0, Grove City by 33-0, West Virginia by 40-0 and Drake by 32-0.

The first eleven to score upon Pitt was Carnegie Tech which went under by 23-7. The strong Nebraska team was jolted, 21 to 13, by Pittsburgh in one of the last games of the drive.

Yale adherents who pass off Yale's defeat by the Georgians as of no logical importance because it was early in the season are countered by the statement that it was an early game for Georgia as well.

Rooters for Yale argue that the Bulldog's opponents shaped out in major calibre. Yale routed the Army which later trampled rough shod over Notre Dame as well as beating the Navy. Yale was the under dog to Dartmouth, Princeton and Brown in 1926 but turned the tables on them in the past campaign along with a triumph over Harvard.

Pittsburgh will have an opportunity to garner national laurels if successful in the annual Tournament of Roses against Stanford at Pasadena, California, January 2. Stanford registered eight victories in ten starts, two setbacks coming from eleven of St. Mary's and Santa Clara. Another post season game will take the Pennsylvania squad to Berkeley, California, for an engagement with the University of California on December 31.

Portland Refuses Large Sum for Pitcher Ortmann

Tom Turner, president of the Portland Baseball club, announces that he has refused an offer of $85,000 for Fred Ortmann, the twenty-year-old left handed pitching star. The offer came from the Chicago White Sox who purchased Chalmers Cissell, twenty-year-old shortstop, from the Portland club team for $100,000 and two players.

Turner said that Ortmann would not be placed on the market until next year, although six major clubs have bid for his services.

Barnyard Golf Liked

The game of horseshoes, popularly known as barnyard golf, is flourishing among the fraternity men at North Western, where over 350 students recently competed in the tournament conducted by the intramural department. The game was introduced at the university during the fall and each day finds the horseshoe courts crowded with men students testing their skill with the trodden shoes. Touchfootball is another intramural sport which has been attracting many men students this fall.

Poisoning Gophers

Gus Bode, Marshall county, Ill., in poisoning pocket gophers, cuts sweet potatoes into cubes about an inch each way, soaks them in a solution of strychnine. Then he runs a toothpick through to prevent the potato from coming apart. He makes sure that the poison is on the inside, as Mr. Gopher will detect anything bitter on the outside.

He drops two pieces in a runway, which may be located by a probe. Irish potatoes may be used in case sweet potatoes are not available.

Brooklyn Quintet Here Wednesday

The Brooklyn Visions, Metropolitan League team, will oppose the Kingston aggregation at the armory Wednesday night. The game which will get under way at 8 o'clock is expected to be a fast one for every time the two quintets meet the fans are furnished with plenty of flashy playing.

The Visions will take the floor with Leopold, a brother of the famous Celtic player, Joe Leopold, center; Cooney and Frank, forwards; Scull and Clowe in the guard positions.

Kingston will send the same lineup into the game that copped the battle from Hudson here last week. "Sig" Makofsky and Fritz Knother will play forwards, Herlihy will function at center while Muska and Martin will do the guarding.

The race between Brooklyn, Catskill and Kingston for first place in the Metropolitan Basketball League promises to be a close one right down to the close of the first half of the season, which takes place shortly after the holidays. A margin of two games separates Kingston in third place from the peacemaking position.

Last week Brooklyn took a brace of games from Hudson that were battles for the full forty minutes. At Brooklyn on Sunday night, Hudson apparently tossed away a sure victory because of the willingness to crab with the referee on the part of one of the Hudson stars. This attitude reacted to Hudson's disadvantage, as Brooklyn slowly crept up and overtook a lead of eleven points, only to go into the van in the closing minutes in a contest that belonged rightfully to Hudson.

Catskill took a breathtaking exhibition away from Albany at home, while Kingston trimmed both Hudson and Troy.

Albany and Troy showed marked improvement last week with almost entirely local lineups, and as it is the intention of the managers of these various cities to lean as strongly as possible to the local player, the move will unquestionably be a favorable one before many more games are played.

Baseball Trades In the Making

New York, Dec. 6 (AP)—While several baseball trades are in the making at the current Dallas confab, the bulk of deals is promised for the National League meeting here next week.

The Robins, Braves, Reds and Phillies are all in the market for players.

Wilbert Robinson of the Robins will leave his Dover Hall, Georgia, rendezvous in a few days to attend the meeting. Jack Hendricks of Cincinnati made arrangements to arrive here a few days before the session which starts on December 13.

The poor showing of the Braves in the last campaign more than nettled President Emil Fuchs who sought to acquire new strength for the faltering warriors.

Although Hazen Cuyler has been safely snared by Joe McCarthy into the Cubs' line, post mortems disclose that every National League club would have liked to land Cuyler from Pittsburgh.

Brooklyn almost got the outfielder but Robinson refused to swap his pitcher, Jess Petty, the only Dodger who interested the Corsairs.

Cuyler would have been acceptable to New York but McGraw's bargaining would not measure up to what the Pirates expected.

Shortstop Dave Bancroft, who piloted the Braves last year, is to receive $43,000 from the Brooklyn club for his service in 1928. Of that amount $13,500 will be his salary and the remainder a bonus he was promised. As manager of Boston, Bancroft's salary was $20,000.

Eight Persons Die in Flames

Williamson, W. Va., Dec. 6 (AP).—Eight persons met death in a fire which destroyed a boarding house here today.

Six of the victims were residents of the Dinges section of Mingo county, who had come to Williamson to testify in the murder trial of Elmer Wellman and his three sons.

The fire originated in a hallway between two sections of the rooming house and spread so rapidly that the eight were trapped when flames cut off the stairway at the front of the building. Another stairway at the rear, intended as a fire exit, was blocked and prevented escape in that direction.

All Relatives "Get the Air" as Boy Is Installed as Sultan of Morocco

Morocco has a boy king. Moulay Mohammed has just been installed on the throne with pompous ceremonies, and the nation is eagerly waiting to see if he will show the traits of a strong-willed ruler.

Moulay is privileged to maintain quite a harem—nobody knows just exactly how many wives he's allotted by law—but the new sultan has gone on record as declaring that he'll be content with just one of 'em.

In keeping with the older tradition, all the relatives of the potentate "took the air" when the inauguration rites were performed.

There was a general clearing out of in-laws and officials and servants, for it's the rule in Morocco that when a new sultan takes the throne, he's allowed to install his own set of friends, diplomats and household workers.

Soviet Peace Proposal Taken As Just a Joke

Dern clever, these Russians!

After the Soviet had been admitted to the international confabs at Geneva, everybody was wondering just how they'd fit in and what sort of Bolshevik stunts they'd pull.

Let it be recorded that they compiled "one for the book" right off the bat.

Maxim Litvinoff, head of the Red government, walked in upon the assembled diplomats, was called on for a speech, and then calmly suggested that the whole world should junk their navies, throw away their arms and make their soldiers take up farming or some other occupation.

Of course, the fact that Russia has an armed force of 1,246,000 men who are under intensive training wasn't quite overlooked—some of the rarer skeptical British statesmen are trying hard to reconcile Red preparedness with Litvinoff's olive-branch gesture.

Sinclair Lewis, the novelist of "Main Street" and anti-clerical fame, who is residing in Russia, now says that the world will "go back a thousand years" if all the powers don't follow Litvinoff's suggestion—but then Sinclair always was an expert at landing his name in the papers.

Supervisors Direct That Unpaid and Rejected Taxes in Various Towns Be Levied on Lands on Which They Were Assessed and Collected—Committee Report.

Indications are that the Ulster county board of supervisors will have its work for 1927-28 far advanced that on Wednesday and Thursday of this week it will be able to take the usual recess so that Clerk Henry R. DeWitt and his assistants will have time to lay the taxes by December 15. A short session was held on Monday evening.

The committee on county clerk and surrogate reported examining bills and claims against the county clerk and found amount claimed $557.50; amount allowed $557.50; and recommended the claims allowed be levied. Filed, later called up for adoption and laid over under the rule.

The committee on printing reported amount claimed, $17,828.08; amount allowed, $16,972.19. It recommended the amounts allowed be audited; also that in addition $2,000 be levied to pay for printing enrollment lists for 1927. Filed, later called up for adoption and laid over under the rule.

counts reported amount claimed, $718.42; amount allowed, $118.42 to be levied, $6 on town of Ulster, $5 on town of Marlborough, $100 on county. The committee on tuberculosis hospital and laboratory reported amount claimed, $229.50; amount allowed, $355.50; and recommended amounts allowed be levied, later called up for adoption and laid over under the rule.

Unpaid School Taxes.

Sees Defeat for Wet Candidates

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP).—Any man "like Al Smith, Nicholas Murray Butler or Nicholas Longworth who attempts to ride into the presidency with wet records and dry declarations will be disgracefully defeated," Dr. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, declared today before the league convention.

He also predicted disappointment for "any party that tries to get in power on a nullification program." The "nullification" program which McBride asserted the "wets" are supporting, he defined "as an effort to 'detest' around the Constitution and the Eighteenth Amendment on light wine and beer route."

The keynote sounded almost unanimously by speakers today was that prohibition enforcement should be made the major issue in the 1928 presidential campaign.

New Paltz Faces New High School

Plans in the New Paltz high school this morning would be increased to 175 as soon as the town opened its new building as there are scores of students outside the village but inside the corporate limits of the town who cannot now be accommodated at the Normal School. Figuring on normal growth I should say the new high school building should accommodate at least 200 pupils when erected.

Senator Wicks, interviewed yesterday from a sick bed where he is recuperating at his Kingston home from an operation last Friday, pointed out that his object in introducing the pending bill is two-fold. It will first segregate the town and normal pupils and then pave the way for approval of Governor Smith and state educational heads for the desired bill which will give New Paltz Normal its new buildings, thus removing congestion and allowing the school to keep up with the desire of the public for entrance.

New Paltz Village Is Split.

Meanwhile New Paltz is split wide into two factions. Those assuming the title of "progressives" and claiming they are in the majority are in favor of the impending bill and segregation. They will vote "yes" on a proposition to build a new school. The village has its own site in Church street.

Careful observers however see an even split, apparently, in the numbers on opposite sides of the fence. They also point out that those against segregation and a new school have an argument which may create a long legal wrangle which may hold off building and create an unprecedented condition in state history. It is this:

Was Foundation.

Those against the proposition assert that about 25 years ago, before the old academy burned down, the village turned its school destiny over to the state and the normal school was formed. At the time of the fire, they assert, New Paltz pupils were being taught by the state. On the strength of this they believe the state has no right to turn over to the town $72,000 and say—"Now go ahead and build your own school."

Asked last night just what the procedure in the school fight will be and what will be the probable outcome Dr. Van den Berg last night said:

"The town will have to call a special taxpayers meeting. If the new school is voted, all will be well. The state will probably pay back the $72,000 and this will be applied on the cost, provided the bill of Senator Wicks goes through. However if the voters down the proposition the village will be in a fine fix."

"Just what do you mean by that?" a reporter asked.

"Why, the state will force the town to build by issuing an order turning all the village high school students out of the state building. Then if plans for building haven't been started the town will find itself without a high school and no place to send its pupils without paying high school tuition rates."

A consensus last night disclosed that the problem is NOT—"To build or not to build," but rather—"Shall we build gracefully or under pressure."

Fire Destroyed Port Ewen House

Property of Peter Mallia Burned to Ground—Mrs. Mallia and Her Three Children Escape From Flames—Old Stone Exploded.

This morning about 1 o'clock Mrs. Peter Mallia, Jr., who resides on Sackett street in Port Ewen, near the Hudson river front, was awakened from sleep by the smell of smoke and jumping out of bed she found the kitchen filled with smoke. She hurriedly aroused her three small children who were asleep in an adjoining bedroom and the four made their escape from the house which was soon a mass of flames.

The Port Ewen fire department was not called until half an hour later and when they responded they found that the house had burned to the ground.

The fire is said to have been caused by an exploding oil stove. The house was a two story frame dwelling and was owned by Peter Mallia.

It shows the great American Legion parade through the streets of Paris as well as the side-lights of the convention, which was the talk of Europe and America.

After the showing of the picture, which will start sharply at 8 o'clock, a social hour and smoker will follow. All ex-servicemen, whether members of the Legion or not, are urged to be present.

authorities proposed to discharge their obligation for enforcement to the full extent of their ability."

Railroad consolidation is necessary to the welfare of both agriculture and industry, the President said, recommending that further legislation to facilitate this under the supervision of the Interstate Commerce Commission be passed without further delay. He also restated his desire for legislation which would permit him to act during coal strikes.

American Intervention Defended.

Although the message was devoted almost exclusively to domestic affairs, the President did inform Congress again that American intervention in foreign lands was merely for the purpose of protecting the lives and property of this country's nationals. He defended the adminis-

KINGSTON, N. Y.

President's policy in China and Mexico and expressed the belief that the controversy with Mexico over oil and land laws, by a firm adherence to our rights and a scrupulous respect for the sovereignty of Mexico, would be solved without impairment of friendly feeling.

Adherence To Agricultural Policy.

While the President's adherence to his former policy regarding agriculture did not come as a surprise, it was noticeable because neither political repercussions nor his summer in the West seemed to have affected his viewpoint.

Any sound and workable proposal to help the farmer, he said, would have his earnest support but he laid down the principle that it should aim to assist the farmer "to work out his own salvation, socially and economically." Taking the position that the farmer already has been assisted by a reduction of federal taxes and that agriculture was showing signs of improving, Mr. Coolidge said:

"It is useless to propose a temporary expedient. What is needed is permanency and stability. Government price fixing is known to be unsound and bound to result in disaster. A government subsidy would work out in the same way."

Price Fixing and Subsidy Results.

"Price fixing and subsidy will both increase the surplus, instead of diminishing it. Putting the government directly into business is merely a combination of subsidy and price fixing safeguarded by political pressure."

"These expedients would lead logically to selling the farmer by law what and how much he should plant, and where he should plant it, and what and how much he should sell, and where he should sell it."

Should Reduce Average.

"The most effective means of dealing with surplus crops is to reduce the surplus average. While this can not be done by the individual farmer, it can be done through the organizations already in existence, through the information published by the Department of Agriculture, and especially through banks and others who supply credit, refusing to finance an average manifestly too large."

Can't Assure Success by Law.

"It is impossible to provide by law an assured success and prosperity for all those who engage in farming. If average becomes overextended, the government can not assume responsibility for it. The government can, however, assist cooperative associations and other organizations in orderly marketing and handling a surplus clearly due to weather and seasonal conditions, in order to save the producer from preventable loss."

"While it is probably impossible to secure this result at a single step, and much will have to be worked out by trial and rejection, a beginning could be made by setting up a Federal board or commission of able and experienced men in marketing, granting equal advantages under this board to the various agricultural commodities and sections of the country, giving encouragement to the cooperative movement in agriculture, and providing a revolving loan fund at a moderate rate of interest for the necessary financing. Such legislation would lay the foundation for a permanent solution of the surplus problem."

Any attempt to revise laws affecting federal revenues, Mr. Coolidge declared, should be approached with a desire to sustain the national budget.

Should Guard Against Propaganda.

Significant admonition was given Congress that the duty for framing a tax bill was peculiarly its own and that it should guard against "special interests, too often selfish, always uninformed of the national needs as a whole, with hired agents using their proposed beneficiaries as engines of propaganda."

Advocates Moderate Army and Navy.

Being a nation which relies upon its ability to maintain peace by fair dealing and good will rather than by force, the President advocated the maintenance of a moderate army and navy. He added, however, the need for considerable naval expansion had been demonstrated some time ago and that in rounding out its navy, the United States would not be moved by failure of the Geneva armament conference. He said the United States is "ready and willing to continue the preparatory investigations on the general subject of limitation of armaments which have been started under the auspices of the League of Nations."

"Everyone knew" Mr. Coolidge said, "that had a three power agreement been reached it would have left us with the necessity of continuing our building program. The failure to agree should not cause us to build either more or less than we otherwise should."

"Any future treaty of limitation will call on us for more ships. We should enter on no competition. We should refrain from no needful program."

The President declared himself

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 6 (AP)—The stock market turned reactionary again today after an early period of irregularity. The selling movement went into full swing soon after the publication of the President's message to Congress. Many commission houses suggesting profit taking on the theory that "the good news was out." A higher renewal rate on call money, coming after the announcement of record breaking stock exchange member loans, also had a tendency to restrict speculation for the advance.

Commission house comment was generally favorable to the recommendations in the President's address, special attention being paid to the railroad consolidation feature. However, dividend rumors accompanied the bullish demonstrations of some of the issues during the morning trading. Wall Street heard the negotiations would soon be concluded for a merger of the Keith and Orpheum vaudeville circuits, but the reports linking the Lambert and other pharmaceutical companies were officially denied.

In the early trading, Union Bag and Paper scored eight points, Continental Insurance six, Philadelphia Company and Goodrich Rubber five each, and a handful of others three points or more. Later selling pressure was particularly effective against U. S. East Iron Pipe, which broke six points, and American Machine and Foundry, International Harvester, Postum, American Sugar Refining, U. S. Common, Union Carbide and Montgomery Ward, all off two to nearly five points.

The Downtown Business Men's Association is striving to make the Christmas celebration of this year the best ever held in this city. They will have a band to play carols at the Community Christmas Tree several nights and to meet Santa Saturday.

The giant Christmas tree on the Strand is expected to surprise Santa to a great degree this year as it is somewhat bigger and more elaborately decorated with electric lights than last year. The tree now presents a very pleasing aspect when lighted at night. Many have commended the Downtown Business Men's Association upon the way in which they planned the decoration of the streets.

MANY PEOPLE SENDING SOLUTIONS TO CRYPTOGRAM
Evidently Santa Claus is not the only one who holds the secret solution of that mysterious word "Stahnetuapcloawus" for Mr. Fleming at the L. B. Van Wagenen store on Wall street is becoming swamped with alleged solutions of the mystery. But how many of them are right? No one will know until noon Monday when the contest closes and Santa Claus has given his official solution to the mystery. The answers are being numbered as they come in so that everyone will have a fair chance at the thirty prizes which are being offered by the uptown merchants. Over three hundred answers had been received Monday and more are coming in. By the end of the week, if the deluge of letters continues, it will be necessary to look for storage space to hold the letters until Santa Claus can be persuaded to give the correct solution and award the prizes.
